 - Known as either the Religious Viewpoints Antidiscrimination Act (RVAA) or the Schoolchildren's Religious Liberties Act
 - Primary Author: Charlie Howard (R)
 - Brief Summary: Local Education Agencies (LEAs), including public schools, are to treat a student's voluntary expression of a religious viewpoint, if any, on an otherwise permissible subject, in the same manner the LEA treats a student's voluntary expression of a secular or other viewpoint on an otherwise permissible subject and may not discriminate against the student based on a religious viewpoint. This includes the expression of religious beliefs in classroom and homework assignments, as well as organizing and participating in religious student gatherings to the same extent as secular non-curricular groups. The model policy language is the exact language approved by the Supreme Court decision in Good News Club v. Milford Central School, 533 U.S. 98 (2001).
